Somerset Women v Launceston City

As usual the game against City is the hardest test of the season and with three out of four of the back line out injured it appeared this game may even be a greater challenge. The weather on the day was terrible with water laying all over the number 2 ground but hopefully this could slow City down a bit.

It was the first time I had seen and coached against this team and I did not realise how fast they really are.

We decided to tag Chelsea Smith to try and limit their opportunities and Meagan got the job again and did a fine job holding her to one goal.

To half time City had scored three crackers of goals but the girls had marked up and shut them down well with some great saves by S. McCulloch.

After half time we again held them well and they only managed two goals and they were getting a bit upset at the close marking.

Emma Pullen scored a well fought goal late in the second half which made City even more agitated and we were very unlucky not to get one or two more which would have been a good result for us.

Well done girls for a well fought game against an opponent that is the competitions benchmark.
